

User Stories

- As a single mother, I want a way to see the history of a product's prices so I know I am getting a good value.
- As a low income student I want to receive price drop alerts so that I can get products on sale.
- As a commercial buyer, I want to see detailed product specs so that I can buy the right products for my employer.
- As an affiliate marketer, I want to see which items are currently popular so that I know the best products to buy and review.
- As a senior user, i want a checkout process that is easy to use so that i can make purchases without the help of my children
- As a video creator, I want a website with good user reviews so that I can buy the best product available for my projects.
- As a visually impaired user, I want a website that is easy to navigate so that I can use it by myself.
- As a business owner, I want a good search feature so that I can find products without wasting too much time.